THE RICHNESS OF TRAVERTINE, THE EASE OF PORCELAIN ANN SACKS STRATI PORCELAIN COLLECTION

PORTLAND, Ore. (January 10, 2017) – ANN SACKS’ porcelain portfolio now includes a porcelain tile inspired by the natural beauty and textural nuance of fine Tuscan travertine but with none of the maintenance and inherent range associated with this coveted stone. Strati, which means “layered” in Italian, has the same affable nature as stone to accommodate every setting – from walls and floors and large scale to more intimate spaces – with the easy maintenance, high traffic performance rating and pure, unaltered color no matter what life throws its way.

Strati is handcrafted in Italy and joins ANN SACKS’ competitive in-stock tile program for quick fulfillment. Coupling the timely turnaround with its ability to move effortlessly between indoor and outdoor applications makes Strati an excellent choice for commercial and residential projects. The sophisticated soft color palette of sand, silver and white creates a neutral backdrop to support bolder color choices within a room and the chic understatement to always be a fashionable choice. The collection includes a 12”x24” and 3”x12” field tile, as well as a straight set two-inch mosaic (shown in silver).
